Motorcycle/Class: Kawasaki Ninja® ZX™-10R / AMA Superbike

Racing number: 2

Crew chief: Neil Freeman

Born: June 30, 1971, Lancaster, England

Resides: Denver, NC

Height: 5'9" Weight: 145 lbs.

Married: Rachel

Jamie Hacking did not come from a motorcycle racing family like many other racers. His first experience with racing came when he started amateur motocross. When Hacking finally got on a street bike, he was a natural and sought to increase his talent. After a successful first year with the Monster Energy Kawasaki team in 2007, Hacking focuses his efforts on the AMA Superbike class and looks to carry the momentum he started last season into 2008 on the all-new ZX™-10R.

RACING HIGHLIGHTS

2007

- Hacking earned Kawasaki's first superbike podium of the year at Road America, finishing second. He went on to earn five podium finishes for the year in the class and ended up sixth overall. He also finished second overall in the AMA Supersport class.

2006

- Hacking took home back to back championships in the 1000 Superstock and AMA Supersport series. He won all but three races in the AMA Supersport.

2005

- Although a training injury limited his season, Hacking earned two AMA Supersport wins at Barber Motorsports Park and California Speedway and a 1000 Superstock win at Pikes Peak International Raceway.

2004

- Hacking raced the 1000 Superstock series with four wins and three additional podium finishes. He also took three podium finishes in the AMA Supersport.

2003

- Hacking won the 600 Supersport championship with four wins and three additional podium finishes.

2002

- Hacking had a career best finish at Daytona 200 taking second-place. He took wins in the 600 Supersport series in Road Atlanta and Laguna Seca.

2001

- Hacking was successful at the Road Atlanta AMA Superbike double-header taking first-place in race one and third-place in race two.

2000

- Hacking won races at Laguna Seca and Pikes Peak International Raceway in the 600 Supersport series. He also won races in the Superbike series at Brainerd International Raceway and New Hampshire International Speedway.

1999

- Hacking placed 4th overall in the 600 Supersport with wins at Road America and Brainerd International Raceway. He took podium in five 600 Supersport races and three podium finishes in the Superbike series.

1998

- Hacking stood on the podium three times for the Superbike series. He was named Superbike Rookie of the Year.
